DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 11 – 12, 14 – 18 and 20 – 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shimoe et al. (US 2005/0065490).

With respect to claims 11 – 12, 14 – 18 and 20 – 23, Shimoe et al. (hereinafter “Shimoe”) discloses a breathable backsheet comprising a liquid impermeable, water vapor permeable first layer (f2) and a liquid impermeable, water vapor permeable second layer (f3) for an absorbent article (1A) comprising an absorbent body (4) adjacent the first layer, said absorbent article being adapted for use as claimed wherein the backsheet is water vapor permeable in a Z direction [0038] and includes a three dimensional hydrophobic distance layer (f4) which creates a space between the first and second layer and allows the article to be adapted to function as claimed as set forth in [0039 – 0040] and in the figures. The functionality of the article (i.e. first and second amounts of mass flow water vapor) appear to be a direct result of the structure and would therefore be met by Shimoe since Shimoe provides all structural elements in the same configuration as claimed. The raised portions are considered to be the attached areas [0071] while unattached attached areas are considered depressed in relation to attached, or raised, areas.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shimoe et al. (US 2005/0065490).

The difference between Shimoe and claim 13 is the provision that the element comprises a number of particles.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide a number of hydrophobic particles as opposed to the one particle taught by Shimoe since it has been held that the mere duplication of essential working parts is within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shimoe et al. (US 2005/0065490) in view of Noda et al. (US 2001/0044611)

The difference between Shimoe and claim 19 is the provision that the element has a minimum distance between the two layers.

Noda et al. (hereinafter "Noda") teaches a hydrophobic element with a thickness greater than 0.1 mm.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide Shimoe with a layer having a thickness greater than 0.1 mm, thereby resulting in a space between the layers of at least 0.1 mm because such a thickness results in a backsheet with a good texture or feel as taught by Noda in [0034].

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11 – 23 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL.

See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
